After January 6, several corporations pledged to review and possibly modify their political giving. Many halted all giving during the review. Some did not resume giving. Many did. In 2021, some contributed to specific members of Congress who voted late January 6 not to certify the election. Some did not contribute to specific members but contributed to PACS or to the House or Senate Republican campaign arms NRCC (National Republican Congressional Committee) and NRSC (National Republican Senatorial Committee).

The list of corporations below includes their giving status as reported in the cited publication. Following this list are letter samples. The first is the most generic and could be sent to any corporation that has resumed giving at any level.

Longer Letter-Writers, I am pasting a formal letter used by Louise Wollman...revise for each corporation:

This one to Mary Barra CEO of GM.

INSERT DATE & CORPORATE ADDRESS HERE

Dear Ms. Barra,

I was disappointed to learn from reputable media sources (CBS News, the NY Times, Popular Information) that General Motors has broken its pledge NOT TO DONATE to members of Congress who refused to certify the 2020 election results, the aptly-named "Sedition Squad." Further, that you may be contributing to leadership PACs like the NRCC and NRSC, which fund candidates taking the same anti-democratic stances.

I am asking you to clarify whether the company is still donating to these people directly or indirectly. If so, how often and to what extent?

Let me be clear that for me this is a nonpartisan issue. I am a moderate on the political spectrum and a wholehearted supporter of capitalism in its responsible iteration.

But with my support goes the expectation that our corporations will honor the fundamental values of democracy and use their influence to punish candidates and organizations who threaten it. You promised to do that in 2021. Clearly your company is backsliding.

I note that nothing appreciable has changed; if anything, these people have doubled-down and hardened their undemocratic stances.

I am but one retiree with limited direct political or financial clout, but my network includes thousands of independent Americans who care passionately about our democracy's future and will protest attempts to hobble it. We support corporations that ARE furthering core American values by refusing donations to candidates and PACS that subvert our voting process.

Know that I am (and will continue) doing all I can to raise awareness of your organization's failure.

I ask the company to reconsider all funding to such anti-democratic enablers.

SIGNATURE HERE

Louise Wollman, a concerned citizen

Shorter Letter-Writers...revise for each corporation:

- 1) Replace "x" with corporation name.
- 2) Choose appropriate citation (either NYT or PI)

Dear x,

CHOOSE APPROPRIATE ARTICLE January 6, 2022, NEW YORK TIMES or August 17, 2021 POPULAR INFORMATION

article reporting that x has resumed contributions—member-specific, National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC), National Republican Congressional Committee (NRRC), or other political action committee—supporting members of Congress who voted on January 6 NOT to certify 2020 election results.

This is a nonpartisan issue. Our corporate community is an integral contributor to our economy and societal welfare, and I support that. But with support goes an expectation that our corporate community will honor the fundamental value of democracy and use its influence to punish candidates and organizations who threaten that democracy.

I am but one retiree without much political or financial sway, but I will do all I can to raise awareness of your organization's failure and to support corporations that ARE furthering this fundamental value by not funding candidates and PACs who are not.

Dear x,

I was disappointed to read the January 6, 2022, NEW YORK TIMES article reporting that x has resumed contributions to members of Congress who voted to not certify the 2020 election results.

Let me be clear that this is a nonpartisan issue. I am writing as a moderate on the political spectrum who is a supporter of capitalism and whose family has benefitted from many years of employment in the corporate world.

But with support goes an expectation that our corporate community will honor the fundamental value of democracy and use its influence to punish candidates and organizations who threaten that democracy.

I am but one retiree without much political or financial sway, but I will do all I can to raise awareness of your organization's failure and to support corporations that ARE furthering this fundamental value by not funding candidates and PACs who are not.

Example of letter to corporation, shared by Robert Hubbell in his January 7, 2022 TODAY'S EDITION NEWSLETTER.

As lifelong USAA member, I appreciated your "We're Grateful for Your Loyalty" note today. Several months ago, I contacted USAA in hopes that I would get a direct response from you regarding the $457,000 that USAA provided to Republicans who supported Trump's attempted coup. I received a weak, unsatisfactory reply from your Director of Member Relations.

Many corporations indicated they would no longer fund those in Congress who support Trump's Big Lie. USAA has remained silent. As a military member-based organization your silence makes you just as complicit as those who participated, and continue to participate, in the attempted coup to overturn our Democracy. . . . Honor your oaths to protect and defend the Constitution!
